Living Creature of Unusual Size
Woman's Stomach for Six Years

Dependence of the Rochester (N. Y.) Ex-

the village of Lancaster, Erie there is a case of peculiar in-not only to medical men, but to eral reader. There resides there

D, a German woman, who for-enjoyed good health, but who has been afflicted with singular and symptoms. Her complaint manifest in the form of paroxysms, commence in her inability to food, and which, after a day or succeeded by severe convulsioning which she appears as if she were suspended, and her coun-turning a livid color, as in ordiangulations. Her consulting

Dr. B., is generally summoned as "the friends and neigh-

the paroxysms, appear unusu-

erous, and he generally suc-

quitting his patient with opiates and soothing remedies. Six years the patient was of good ordinary and healthy appearance; now she is emaciated and shapeless in form, her face a tallow-like, cadaverous hue, her countenance wears a sunken, and anxious expression. These symptoms have for the past few years rapidly increased, each attack being more violent and distressing, threatening to terminate the woman's miserable existence.

She believes there is a snake in her stomach, and that her terrible malady is owing to the presence and growth of the reptile there. The movement of this creature during the periods of disturbance, and when it is distributed, is plainly discernable, even under the patient's clothing, and are of a coloration of the skin over the region of the stomach, as if from blows.

It is the opinion of her physician that a living creature of some sort, most probably a snake, has taken up its abode in the stomach of his patient.

He has had some experience in that region. He served two years in the army, in the late war, as surgeon in a regiment, and while stationed in the Southern State, he, with another surgeon, was called by a resident to assist in relieving a man of stomach that had got into his stomach.

The man's symptoms were almost precisely like those of Dr. B.'s patient in the case. The man was kept from death until the snake became very handy, when it was tempted from its living place by the smell of savory viands. It was then seized by the doctor, and its length drawn forth. It was more than a yard long, and must have occu-ped the entire cavity of the man's stomach.

Dr. B. thinks his patient can be recovered by the same method, but he is not so confident, and naturally shrinks from the trial. It is becoming daily more evident that she cannot survive, unless something is done to remove the loath-some creature. It will either strangle her in her attempts to pass it up the esophagus, or, from its enlarged size and increased strength, break through the walls of the stomach in some of its struggles for freedom.

The case is a painful as well as an interesting one, and elicits the sympathy of a large circle of acquaintances, who believe that something may be done for relief of their suffering friend, but now not how it may be accomplished.

NEVER DO TOO MUCH AT A TIME.—Sir

Edward Bulwer Lytton, in a lecture recently delivered in England, gave the following history of his literary habits:

"I have persons seeing me much engaged in a life, and as much about the world as though I had never been a student, have said to me, 'when do you get time to write all your books?' How on earth do you contrive to do so much work? I shall surprise you by the answer

I make. The answer is this: 'I manage to do so much by never doing much at a time. A man, to get through work, must not over-work himself; if he do too much to-day, the result of fatigue will come, and he will be obliged to do too little to-morrow.

Since I began really and earnestly to study, which was not until I left college, and was actually in the world, I perhaps say that I have gone through the course of general reading as

[From the Christian Watchman.]
Anecdote of the Late Dr. Archibald Alexander, of Princeton.

An enthusiastic revivalist felt he had a mission to talk with the Doctor. He called, was kindly received, and began a conversation on personal experience.—

Doctor heard him quietly, moving his right leg and mouth in that peculiar way so ominous to his students.

The man waited for a reply. None came. He went on expatiating on his feelings, his call, his tokens of spiritual life, but still the Doctor moved his leg and mouth. At last, irritated, he broke out with, "Dr. Alexander, have you no religion?"

"None to speak of, sir."

The man left.

The General Assembly passed a resolution that the students of the Presbyterian church should be exercised in mem- orior or extemporaneous preaching.

In obedience to this resolution the Doctor directed that the students should preach before him without manuscript.

Among the first to preach under the new rule was one B—-. He ascended the pulpit with a confident air, announcing his text—"None of these things move me," and came to a stop. Memory had failed him.

"With a tremendous voice, he again uttered, 'None of these things move me.'"

Again a halt!

"None of these things move me," was his third utterance.

The old Doctor looked up and quietly observed, "And pray, sir, what will move you?"

B—- moved.

During the Washingtonian movement,

a student, whose mind was excited on the subject of total abstinence, thought it to be his duty to call upon the Doctor and stir him up on the subject. He called, was invited to sit, and he opened the subject.

The mouth opened—the leg moved—but not a word from the Doctor until the young man had finished his impetuous lecture.

"Are you through, sir?" said the Doctor.

"Yes, sir," was the reply.

"Then I'll be happy to see you again, sir, when you have any business."

Family Worship.

Luther has suggested a beautiful form of service for the family. It may be proper to insert it here. He says:

"When you rise in the morning, say,

'With your family, devoutly, 'In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, Amen.'"

"Then, standing or kneeling, say the Credo, the Lord's Prayer, and the following collect:

"I thank Thee, O my heavenly Father,

through Jesus Christ, thy well-beloved,

that thou hast kept and preserved me and my family from all evil and danger, and I beseech thee to forgive us all our sins, wherein we have offended thee.

Preserve us this day from sin and keep us from all evil, and grant that all our actions and our whole lives may please thee. I commend myself and family, our bodies, our souls, and all things belonging to us, into thy hands; let thy holy angels be ever with us to protect us from the power of darkness, through

Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

"And a hymn being sung, or the Ten Commandments repeated, or whatever your devotion may suggest, proceed with a cheerful heart to the duties of your calling.

In the evening, when you go to rest with your family, say:

"In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, Amen."

Then say the Creed, the Lord's Prayer, and the following collect:

"I thank thee, O heavenly Father,

through Jesus Christ, thy well-beloved

Son, that thou, of thy free mercy and great goodness, hast kept and preserved us this day. I pray thee that thou wouldst forgive us all our sins which we have this day committed against thee, and wherein we have offended thee. And we beseech thee, by thy grace, mercifully preserve us this night; for I commend myself and family, our bodies, our souls, and all things belonging unto us, into thy hands. Let thy holy angels be ever with us to preserve us from the power of darkness, through our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. Amen."

"And then go quietly and calmly to

The Ram-Seller's Co-Partnership Proposals to the Devil.

SATANIC AND DEAR SIR:—I have opened apartments, fitted up all the excitements of luxury for the sale of brandy, rum, gin, wine, beer, and other compounds. Our objects, though different, can best be attained by united action. All I want of them is their money. All else shall be yours.

"Bring me the industrious, the sober,

the respectable, and I will return them to you drunkards, paupers and beggars.

Bring me the child and I will dash to earth the dearest hopes of the father and mother.

"Bring me the father and mother, and I will plant discord between them, and make them a curse, and a reproach to their children.

"Bring me the young man, and I will ruin his character, destroy his health, shorten his life, and blot out the brightest and purest hopes of the youth.

"Bring me the mechanic and the laborer who earns his own money—the hard earned fruits of his own toil, shall be made to plant poverty, vice and ignorance in his once happy home.

"Bring me the professed follower of Christ, and I will delight in withering every devotional feeling of his heart. I will corrupt the ministers of religion, and defile the purity of the church.

"Bring me the patronage of the city, and of the courts of justice—let them send me the Chief Magistrate of the State, and of the Union, as my guests.

Place one of my patrons in the first office in the nation, let the law-makers themselves meet at my table, and participate in violations of the law, that would consign me to imprisonment as a felon; and I will make the very name of law a hissing and a by-word in the streets.

"Bring me above all, the moral, respectable man. If possible, bring me the moderate temperance man, for though he may not drink, yet his presence will countenance the pretext under which our business must be marked. Bring him to our stores, oyster and billiard saloons, and hotels, and the more timid of our victims will then enter without alarm.

The Childs Pocket Etiquette.—Always

say, Yes, sir. Yes, papa. No, papa.

Thank you. No, thank you. Good night.

Good morning. Use no slang terms. Remember that correct spelling, reading, writing, and grammar are the base of education.

Clean faces, clothes, clean shoes, and finger nails indicate good breeding.

Never leave your clothes about the room. Have a place for everything, and everything in its place.

Rap before entering a room, and never leave it with your back to the company.

Never enter a private room or public place with your cap on.

Always offer your seat to a lady, or old gentleman. Let your companions enter the carriage or room first.

At the table, eat with your fork; sit up straight; never use your toothpick, and when leaving, ask to be excused.

Never put your feet on cushions, chairs,

or table.

Never overlook any one when reading or writing, nor talk or read aloud

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

At the Congressional Convention on Wednesday of last week, held at Columbus, Gen. Merion C. Hunter, of Bloomington, was nominated as a candidate for Congress in the 3d District.

Charles B. Baymiller, for many years connected with the public press in Indiana, at Madison, Indianapolis, and other points, died at his residence in Indianapolis, on the 31st ult., in the 45th year of his age.

The great event of the week, is the demonstration of the Fenians upon Canada.

An extensive fire occurred at St. Louis on Wednesday night of last week, by which the extensive warehouse of Freeman & Co. was, with its contents, entirely destroyed. Loss, $100,000.

Hon. Thomas H. Nelson, (late Minister to Chili), arrived at New York Thursday last.

Our Consul at Liverpool furnishes the department of State with the fact that quite large shipments of French wheat and flour have been made to the United States from that port. This is the first instance in which flour has been shipped as merchandise from Europe.

In Putnam county, Virginia, within a radius of twenty miles, 300 persons have been more or less poisoned by using flour made at the Phillipsburg Mills. The lead used in cementing the mill-stones, by process of fermenting and boxing between carbonate of lead, which poisoned the flour.

The funeral of General Scott took place at West Point on Friday, of last week, with imposing ceremonies. The order of proceedings were conducted by General Meade, and Bishop Potter assisted at the religious ceremonies. A large number of notables were present. The remains were deposited in the cemetery of the Institute, in a superb coffin, shrouded with the Stars and Stripes, and received a salute from the Cadets.

The cholera, which is now spreading on the quarantine in New York, seems to be of a very severe type. There are no new cases of the epidemic in the city.

A man named G. W. McDonald was run over by the passenger train Saturday night, a short distance this side of North Madison. He was intoxicated, and had lain down or fallen on the track. Both legs were cut off at the hips, and his body was otherwise horribly mangled. Coroner's verdict in accordance with the facts, and exonerating the railroad employees from blame.

MORE OF THE EFFECTS.—James Stidman, a bricklayer, committed suicide at New Albany, on Friday, by taking an overdose of laudanum. The effects of strong drink are supposed to have caused him to commit the deed.

On Monday, General Meade and staff passed through New York en route North. General Sweeney and one hundred and fifty Fenians were on the same train.

The Government is using every effort to preserve neutrality between the United States and England, and the Fenians seem disposed to violate the neutrality laws. A dispatch from St. Albans says that another company of United States artillery, from Fort Independence, had arrived there.

Gold is gradually rising in the New York market. On Monday, it was quoted at $143 3/4.

It is stated that one hundred and fifty Fenians are at Memphis waiting for orders.

Special dispatches to the New York papers of Monday said that the Government considers the invasion of Canada virtually ended.

The first hundred miles of the Union Pacific railroad was completed on Monday.

About fifteen cases of Fenian arms were seized by the United States authorities at Milwaukee on the 4th.

Lieutenant-General Grant and family arrived at Chicago on the 4th, from Buffalo, and departed for St. Louis the same day.

The Chicago Fenians are not leaving for the front very rapidly. They seem to prefer to stay at home, hold meetings and talk. "Sensible to the last."

The Evansville Journal records the seduction and abandonment of a little girl in that city only thirteen years old. The brute who committed the crime ran away. Hanging would be too mild a punishment for him.

A tornado visited the vicinity of Honesdale, Pennsylvania, Monday, destroying the large covered bridge spanning the Luckawanna, demolishing barns and out houses, and carrying a boy about fifty feet. No lives were lost.

A young lady named Busher was killed by the careless handling of firearms at Springfield, Illinois, a few days ago.

Railroad Meeting at Russellville.

On the 26th ult., a number of the leading citizens of Russellville and vicinity convened at that village for the purpose of considering the propriety of building a Railroad from Rockville, Ind., to connect with some road running east by way of Cleveland. The meeting was organized by the selection of Joseph Fordice as President and Wm. H. Boswell, of the Ladoga Herald, as Secretary. James F. Harney addressed the meeting at some length, showing the importance of the contemplated project, as well as the probable cost and practicability of such a road. The meeting was also addressed in a brief and pertinent manner by Thomas H. Messick, Capt. Walden, Asa Fordice, and Daniel Evans. On motion of T. H. Messick, a committee of six were appointed to act as an executive committee; namely: Joseph Fordice, J. F. Harney, Capt. Benj. Walden, Capt. Wilson, Asa Fordice, and Thomas H. Messick. The meeting adjourned to meet at Ladoga on the 13th of June.

No equal number of citizens can carry out a project of this kind with more energy and determination than those engaged in this enterprise; and we trust their efforts may be crowned with success.

We see it stated that John C. Fremont has purchased the Southwest Pacific Railroad, in Missouri, for $1,300,000.

THE FENIANS MAKING A MOVE.—The Cincinnati Commercial of Friday, says: "The Fenian news is portentous. From the East and from the West come tidings of considerable bodies of the Brotherhood quietly taking trains, on their way (as they declare) 'to California.' Buffalo, however, seems to be the point of concentration instead of San Francisco, and the Canadians are again in a state of alarm and active military preparation. Our Columbus correspondent states that 35,000 muskets and an immense quantity of ammunition have been sent from that city to Fenian headquarters in Chicago and Buffalo during the fortnight. It was rumored in Buffalo yesterday that a raid across the border was ordered for last night, but we have no confirmation of the report. Several hundred Fenians left Boston and New Haven yesterday bound West. General Sweeney means mischief."

LATER.—The Ind. Journal of Saturday, says: "Our reports from all sections give accounts of the movements of Fenians. Yesterday, a force crossed over into Canada, from Buffalo, and occupied Fort Erie. They commenced fortifying, and seem determined to hold their position, if possible. Meanwhile, other forces are concentrating on the Saint Lawrence, and reinforcements are going forward from every quarter. The Canucks are badly scared, and are raising troops and sending them to the border very rapidly. We shall not be surprised to hear of a bloody battle having been fought on Canadian soil before long."

THE FENIAN MOVE A FIZZLE.—The Fenian excitement lessens in degree as time wears away. Our latest advices from headquarters—Buffalo—are to the effect that everything has quieted down, and there is absolutely nothing of importance transpiring. The arms of the Fenians and those captured at the battle of Ridgeway are in the possession of the Government, on board the Michigan. It is now asserted that in the battle only four Canadian volunteers were killed and about twenty-five wounded, three seriously. The whole affair seems to have wound up in a farce than otherwise, though some on both sides lost their lives.

FENIANS SHOT.—Under date of "Buffalo, June 4th," we have the information that the British forces at Fort Erie shot a Fenian deserter from their army, this morning, and will execute another tomorrow morning. Yesterday, a few miles back from the river, six Fenian prisoners were killed for an alleged attempt at escape. The British regimen of harshness and severity is evident in their treatment of their captives.

The Fenians held a council of war at St. Albans, on Tuesday. Many of the prominent officers think it inexpedient to move with the present short allowance of ammunition and supplies, but they are willing to obey orders, General Murphy, at Malone, is said to have ten thousand men well armed and equipped. It was expected that he would make a movement last night, and that General Shear would move from St. Albans soon to co-operate with him.

JEFF DAVIS.—The counsel for Jeff. are trying to get him released on parole. Under date of "Washington, June 4," it is stated that Charles O'Connor had an interview with the President concerning the trial of Jeff. Davis. He says they are ready to proceed with the trial, and if the Government is not ready they will ask for the release of Davis on parole, with security as the Government may ask. They offer bail from $100,000 to $1,000,000. The New York Tribune, in speaking of Jeff. Davis, uses the following language: If Mr. Davis is to be tried, as it seems to us he ought to be, we can imagine no reason for deferring his trial. If he has been unjustly proclaimed an assassin, he should somehow be relieved from the blasting imputation; and if he is not to be tried, but is merely to be held until public sentiment will admit of his liberation, we protest against a policy as unworthy the people of this country. Even if the object of his imprisonment were to render him the sole idol of the late rebels, making them forget all his faults in their sympathy for his condition, it has already been fully accomplished. Let us try him, or else let him go.

MILLIGAN AGAIN ARRESTED.—What will be done now? The meek-mouthed General of the Knights of the Golden Circle, the much abused and persecuted Milligan has been arrested again for treason and held to bail in $5,000. This continued persecution of their most ingenious champion will enable the Democratic papers to reprint their old editorials on the infringement of the liberty of speech. They should remember, however, that the arrest is not the work of the military authorities, but is simply the carrying out of a process instituted by the civil courts of Indiana.

The month of May, 1866, which has just passed into eternity, will doubtless long be remembered as the coldest in the memory of the oldest inhabitants. But three or four warm days during the entire month.

The Crawfordsville Review says that the prospect of the wheat crop in Montgomery county is anything but flattering. Good judges say that it will be the smallest that has been gathered for years.

Shall we Have a New Party? Under this interrogatory the Albany Evening Journal has an article replete with reason and sound sense. It is in reply to the New York Times, and presents the case in a clear and distinct light. We extract from it as follows: "We have no fear that the Union party will commit itself to the principle of holding 'the Southern States as conquered provinces or territories, to confiscate their property, deny them representation, disfranchise their people, and impose upon them universal negro suffrage.' Where does the design to make such an attempt appear? Is it set forth in the State platforms, which are the only true expositions of party sentiment? Is it to be met with anywhere save in the speeches of hot-headed zealots, or in the editorials of impracticable newspapers—which, whatever they may assume, are not the exponents of a majority, and we often think would nowhere be considered as such, but for the undue importance attached to their position by those who do not agree with them."

It is not necessary to look outside the Union party for the elements which are to carry forward and gloriously perfect the work of reorganization. Whatever its inharmonies and divisions—incident to novel and perplexing situations—it embodies the only concrete loyal and national sentiment in the land. Nor do the materials exist from which to fabricate another party that shall assume its place, and take the task from its hands. The very suggestion of such a possibility is unjustified—for as Mr. Seward truly and strongly said in his speech at Auburn, the dismissal of the Union party from the control of public affairs would be a national calamity.

The really just application of wise councils is that made by the Secretary of State in his masterly address—compromise and adjustment within the party itself. There are no existing difficulties inside the organization which can not be settled upon a basis that will preserve the unbroken integrity of the Union ranks, and secure the best interests of the Nation. To this end, it is the duty of all Union journals to labor.

Reconstruction.

A report was made to the United States Senate on the 25th ult., submitting a plan of reconstruction which seems to be an improvement on any hitherto submitted. The third clause of the House Report was opposed by many loyal men. Its plan of disfranchising rebels until 1870 has been so modified in the Senate Report as to apply especially to rebel office-holders. A new clause is introduced in the first section to define more clearly citizenship in the States and in the United States, a point on which intelligent legislation was not much demanded. The report met the full approbation of the Union Senatorial caucus, and its provisions have gained favor generally with Union men. Its passage by the Senate, and its acceptance by the House as a substitute for the measure already adopted by that body, are confidently looked for. It is also understood that the caucus will recommend a modification of the reconstruction enabling act, so as to admit the rebel States to representation as fast as they sanction the proposed amendments. If this is done, Tennessee may soon be admitted. It is hoped by many that the new plan may secure the Executive favor, which has been denied to former schemes.

Lambin P. Milligan, who, it will be recollected, was tried by a Military Commission, found guilty of treason and sentenced to be hung, with Bowles and others, and whose sentence was commuted by President Johnson, through the exertions of Governor Morton, to imprisonment for life, is again at home dealing out reasonable wrath to his gaping and credulous hearers, the disunion democrats. Recently, however, the old rebel was arrested for treason and held to bail in $5,000, and will be tried by civil authority this time. In a recent speech he gloried in the assassination of President Lincoln, heaped wholesale abuse on Gov. Brough of Ohio, now deceased, and exulted at Gov. Morton's shattered health.—Vincennes Times.

MEANS TO AVOID CHOLERA.—The Secretary of the Treasury has addressed a circular to collectors of customs, directing their attention to the joint resolutions of Congress, approved May 26, 1866, and act of February 25, 1879, respecting quarantine laws. He says: "You will without delay, place yourselves in communication with your respective State and municipal authorities, and aid them as far as circumstances under your control will permit, in executing such quarantine and health laws and regulations as may be established to prevent the introduction of the cholera into the ports of the United States."

The papers of Central Illinois continue to complain of the bad prospect for the wheat crop. In this county we believe that winter wheat has been so injured that not half a crop will be harvested. Spring wheat looks well. Few peaches will be raised in this part of the State. Apples, plums, cherries, and other more hardy fruits promise a fair crop.—Urbana Union.

WHEAT.—The growing wheat crop in Johnson county looks much better now than could have been reasonably expected from the prospect in the opening of the spring, and if nothing further happens to damage the crop, there will yet be an abundant yield of wheat in our county this year.—Franklin Jeffersonian.

Gen. Grant on Saturday sent an order to General Meade, to assign General Barlow to command all the forces from Buffalo to the Niagara river. He says: "The State authorities should call on the militia on the frontier to prevent hostile expeditions from leaving the United States, and to save private property from destruction by mobs."

The Murderer of the Todd Family. His Confession. Our readers will remember that in March last, a man named George W. Sage, living a few miles from Vernon, Jennings county, Ind., went to the residence of Mr. Todd, a neighbor, during the absence of the latter, robbed the house, and attempted to murder three children, being successful only in the case of one, a little boy of two years. He was arrested, convicted, sentenced, and executed at Fulton, Jennings county, on the 25th ult., as our readers have already been informed. A Fulton correspondent of the Chicago Tribune furnishes the following facts respecting the wretched man:

Wearied and worn by sorrow, fear and vigils, he is gaunt, hollow-eyed, nervous, and his voice has sunk into a sad, choking monotone, as if fearful of awakening the dreadful echoes of his dungeon. His complexion is sallow, his hair and beard long, giving, with the addition of his sunken and lustreless eyes and hollow cheeks, a wild and unspeakably wretched appearance to his face. Closely he draws around his shoulders a dingy blanket shawl, and whether from cold or a nameless horror which comes upon him, he shivers, endeavors to cover the motion by a cough, and, as he raises his manacled hands to his lips, the long, bony fingers tremble as if palsied by a silent dread. For an instant he meets his visitor's gaze, then nervously glances over his shoulder toward the gloom at the further end of the dungeon as if he expected there to see some hideous phantom, invisible to all eyes but his, a being embodied of sin and death, linked to him in horrid brotherhood by his damning crime. Sitting thus, he speaks, monotonously in general and in short sentences, and that which he speaks is

His Confession.—"My wife had been over that to Todd's day afore, spendin' the day with Mrs. Todd, 'n she left some work over thar 'n I went over to git it—God knows there warn't a bad thought in my mind when I went to the house—I just went over thar to git my wife's work. Well, I went into the front room 'n thar warn't nobody thar. Then I went into the cookin' room, 'n they was all gone from thar. Then when I seed they was all gone from the house, I thought I'd take some money. I knew Mr. Todd had some money, 'n I thought I'd take it, 'n got to Fayette county, Illinois. I used to live thar. I'd been sick in Indianer with fever and ager since last June. Hadn't been able to do a stroke of work, 'n 'peared like as if I'd never git well. I thought I'd git well if I got back to Illinois. So I went 'n got the money. It was in the bureau drawer. I only got ten dollars. There was another pocketbook thar with about four hundred dollars in it, but I didn't git that. I didn't see then what I got. I was too much hurried. Just then the children came in, 'n I knocked them all on the head with a piece of a brick. I don't know what made me do it. I thought I'd killed them."

Query.—The two oldest children, the girls, have recovered, have they not? Ans.—I believe so. I've heard so.—Thank God.

Query.—How old was the little boy you killed? Ans.—[In a choking voice] 'Bout two years.

Query.—Why did you kill the poor little one—you have said you had no ill will toward the Todds? The innocent little infant could not have told of your robbery and the murder of the others? Ans.—I don't know, Mister; 'pears to me as if, if I'd been at myself I'd never have done it.

At this point he was overcome by uncontrollable emotion. Sobs shook his frame, and from between the fingers with which he covered his eyes, tears of penitence and grief poured forth. When he recovered his self-control, in some measure, he went on, still, however, choking and weeping. He repeated that he had no bad thoughts when he went to the house, called God to witness that he had repented of his great crime, and said that he was prepared to meet his deserved punishment. On being asked if he ever attended church, he replied that he used to go to the Methodist church, but was never a regular member thereof.

He said he could not read much, but he believed that what he could read in the New Testament, did him a great deal of good. At the termination of the interview, he earnestly besought the Sheriff, Mr. E. N. Dixon, to send him a spiritual adviser, Rev. Mr. Dolf, to him, and when this was promised, he bowed his head in his hands and was left alone, weeping.

The Hungry Hypocrites.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Times telegraphed to that paper on May 29, the following item concerning the Copperhead Congressional caucus, to which we referred on yesterday:

"The Democratic Members of Congress held a caucus this evening at the room of the House Judiciary Committee, to consult upon the political situation. No results were arrived at, but it is understood that there is a split in their meager ranks as to whether it is best to repudiate the President because he declined to give that party a share of the spoils, or to still extend him sympathy in the hope of further divisions in the Republican party."

New York Cattle Market. New York, June 5. The current prices for the week at all the markets are as follows: Beef Cattle—First quality, per head, $18 @19 00; fair to good, $16 00@18 00; common $15 00@16 00; inferior $12 00@14 00. Cows and Calves—First quality, 11@12; ordinary 10@11; common $8@9; inferior $7@8. Sheep and Lambs—Extra per head, $7@8; prime quality, $6 50@7; ordinary $5 50@6 50; common $5@5 50; inferior $3 50@4 50. Swine—Corn fed per pound, 10¢; light, 10@10 1/2¢. The market for beef cattle has ended dull this week, the receipts not being adequate to the wants of the city butchers, to say nothing of the demand from Brooklyn, &c. Cattle were all of an excellent quality, and an advance of 1 1/2¢ per pound was readily realized. The best cattle selling quick at 18¢, and some higher.

CINCINNATI MARKET, June 5.—Corn, 60¢; Oats, 55¢; Bacon, 14 1/2¢@15¢, for shoulders, sides and clear sides; Lard, 22¢. Gold, 145¢—excited.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO SCHOOL TEACHERS

The first Public Examination under the new School Law will take place on the 22nd inst., the last Saturday of April, at No. 16 College Building. Time—10 o'clock, A. M. Be prompt!

The succeeding public examinations will take place on the last Saturday of each month in the year. No private examinations will be granted under any circumstances.

History of the United States and Physiology are added to branches formerly required. See School Law of 1865.

I advise all applicants for school license to send fifty cents to Sargent, Wilson & Hinkle, Publishers, Cincinnati, O., and get "The Examiner," by A. Deane, C. M., and then study it thoroughly before they apply for a license. Testimonials in regard to character must be presented previous to an examination.

to the changed condition of things.—...
Johnson and Dick Taylor, particularly... are exercising a good influence. But,"... he added, "Lee is behaving badly. He... is conducting himself very differently... from what I had reason, from what he...
said at the time of surrender, to suppose... he would. No man at the South is ca... pable of exercising the tenth part of...
the influence for good that he is; but...
instead of such, he is setting an exam... ple of forced acquiescence as grudging... and pernicious in its effects as to be...
hardly realized."

"The men who were in the rebel ar... mies," said Grant, "acquiesce in the re... sult much better than those who stayed... at home. The women, particularly...
were bitter against the Union and Union... men." "Of course," he added, "there is...
some bitterness of feeling among all... classes, but I am satisfied it would soon... die out if their leading men had not...
somewhat got the idea that treason, after...
all, was not so very bad, and that the...
Southern cause, as they phrase it, will...

"In my judgment," said Grant, "the...

The Chicago Tribune has read the...
Copperhead platform of this State, and...
condemns it as follows:

1. Secession played out. Hence the... rebels are as good as ever.
2. Andy Johnson's our man.
3. Congress should be cleaned out.
4. We're against the tariff.
5. Let Government tax its own debt... by way of helping it to borrow.
6. We won't pay our rebel debt.
7. Let the soldiers vote our ticket and... we'll give them higher bounties for vot... ing than they ever got for fighting.
8. If Republicans desert to our camp... we'll share our mess—such as it is.
9. If a nigger votes the country's...
gone up.
10. Nigger—keep out of Indiana!
11. Irishman—come and welcome!
12. Eight hours is a day's work.
13. Let every man do as he d—n... pleases.
14. Except that none but Demo... crats must steal.
15. Liquor all around and let the tem... perance men dry up.
16. Our old Ben in the Senate and... three chickens in the House, were the... best cocks in the pit. But Voorhees is...
a dead pallet.
17. All debts due to black men must... be paid to white men; on the principle... that a negro can't own property, and...
never could.

A farmer objected to the eight hour... clause, but finding it was put in for gam...
mon, and that by hiring his men to do a... day and a half's work in a day he could... get twelve hours' work instead of ten, he...
succumbed.

MY COURTSHIP.—When I was sixteen...
I fell in love. There was nothing re... markable in that, for most young men of... that age do the same thing. But what...
I am going to tell you is, how my court... ship ended. It was at a party I saw...
Sallie B—, who was one of the pret... tiest girls in Tipton; and I tell you...
she looked sweet in her white muslin... ball-dress. I got an introduction... danced with her once, twice, three, and...
I was just the happiest man in all Tipt... town. Well, at last the party broke up... but I had an invitation to call on Miss...
B. That was all I wanted, and I didn't... sleep much before Sunday evening—for... that was the time I'd fixed to call. I... called; saw Miss Sallie to church—saw... her home; and when I left I had a press... ing invitation to call again, and I did... not forget it I assure you. At the end... of a month I was completely gone. At... last I resolved to "pop the question,"...
and fixed on my next visit for the time... studied "Courtship Made Easy," the... roughly, and concluded I was ready for... the task. The time arrived. Here I... was, sitting by the side of my beloved... with my arm around her waist! I took... her hand in mine, and screwed up my...
courage to say, "Dear Sallie, do you... love me?" She made no answer, but...
her eyes were cast down, and I hoped—...
yes, I was certain she loved me. I put...
both my arms around her neck, and I... pressed—once, two, three kisses on her... rosy lips. She did not resist, but raised... her head and said: "You're as bad as...
Sam Simmons!"

A FISH STORY.—The Chattanooga...
Tenn., Gazette, of May 16, says: "A fish... was found in the river that has puzzled... the oldest inhabitant to give a name to...
The thing was caught by a fisherman... some three miles below the city, and...
measures eighteen feet and some inches... in length, and weighs 170. It has the... shape of a porpoise, but is covered with...
log, shaggy hair, and has a beard... around its mouth, which resembles a... hug-hole more than anything else. It... has a paddle in the centre of its body...
and a tail like a rat."

Mr. Gladstone says:
"There is nothing so insidious as fi... nancial difficulty. It approaches with... smiles and caresses. Borrowing for the... first time appears open to no objection...
There is nothing in it alarming or men... acing. It is like the cub of the lioness... spoken of by one of the Greek poets...
which was rashly taken by the hunter... into his house. When it was young, it... was reared with his dogs and placed... among his children. It was mild in... temper, and fawned upon every one...
But when it grew up and felt its strength... it deluged the house with gore."

Buckeye! Buckeye!

From the American Agriculturist, Nov., 1865.
TRIAL OF MOWERS AT HUNT'S BRIDGE...
BY THE AMERICAN INSTITUTE.—The BUCKEYE...
Wins!—On the 17th and 18th of July, the...
American Institute had a trial of Mowing Ma... chines, conducted by a committee of practical... farmers and mechanics. We were present at...
the trial, and hesitate not to say that we never... knew or heard of Mowers being put to so se... vere and fair tests. They cut good grass and... logged grass, both fine and coarse, and in...
places and dry, on level ground, on hill sides... swales, rough ground, etc., through dry... ditches, through wet ditches, and under sev... eral inches of water. They were made to cut... with the finger-nails raised and depressed, and...
with the inner wheel on a ridge, and in the... bottom of a ditch. They turned corners cut... ting to the right, and to the left, and round... short curves and long ones. They were tested... by the dynamometer, and used to see how...
fast and how slow they could go and cut well...
and besides the mechanism of the Machines, as...
put into market, was examined.
There were eleven (11) Machines entered... and but seven went through the trial. All... these did very creditably, but, of course, not...
equally well in all respects.
The result of the trial was made known at...
the recent Fair of the Institute, the gold med... al of the Society being awarded to the Buck... eye. (Adrian, Platt & Co.) We shall look... for the report with interest, and hope it will...
be full and fair.

This is the original and genuine "Buckeye,"...
(C. Aultmann & Co.'s patent.) Sold by E. D...
ANDERSON, sole agent for this territory.
Call and leave your orders soon. n18
